Our Promise

Global Academy of Holistic Leadership and Coaching Inc. cares about its customers, and appreciates your concerns about how we handle your personal information.

We strive to provide you with a great web experience, and with that we commit to keeping your information secure.

We promise to abide by this policy and handle your personal information in a responsible, professional and respectful manner. Should we ever fall short of these goals, we promise to make every effort to resolve and address your concerns in a professional and timely way.

Your Consent

Please read our Privacy Policy carefully so that you can understand how we collect, use and disclose the personal information that you provide to us.

With your access to this website we imply your consent to all the terms and conditions stated in this policy.

If, at any time, we wish to collect, use and/or disclose your personal information for any other purpose, we will notify you and seek your consent.

Please note, that in some limited circumstances we are permitted by law to collect, use and/or disclose your personal information without your consent and notice.

Personal Information

For the purpose of this Privacy Policy, personal information means information about an identifying individual, but it does not include name, title, business address, and business phone number of an employee of an organization.

Your personal information may include, but is not limited to, your contact information.

We collect, use and disclose your personal information only for identified purposes and with your knowledge and consent. We do this reasonably and for reasonable purposes.

Today we collect and save any personal information (such as name, address, telephone number, or e-mail address) only when provided through a contact or application form. Such voluntarily provided information is treated confidentially, not passed on to third parties and is exclusively used for dealing with your request.

We also may use specific trusted third party software like per example Mad Mimi, Google Analytics, Google

AdWords and PayPal through API's (Application Program Interface), links and other implementation methods. Please refer to "Links to Third Party Websites" for more information.

In some cases we may collect your IP address to gather broad information per example about geographics, or to help diagnose problems. Such information is used anonymously.

We may enrich our website with more functionality and services in the future, and such development may include the collection, use and/or disclosure of personal information for other purposes than currently included in this Privacy Policy. In such a case we will always first revise this Privacy Policy in the matter as described in "What if we revise this Privacy Policy?".

Use of Cookies

Cookies are small text files which are stored locally on your hard drive, when you use a website or web application.

Cookies are used temporary during your website visit (session cookies) and apart visits (persistent cookies). Note that most browsers allow some control of cookies. If you delete or block cookies this website may not work properly, since the use of cookies may be necessary for operation of this website. By using our website while your browser is set to accept cookies, we imply your consent to them.

We use cookies to store temporary information which helps us to enhance user experience. We use cookies

- to store display settings and user preferences
- to store information entered and submitted through form fields
- to help identify and maintain browsing sessions (session cookies)
- to store visited pages or used tools and functions available on the website (tracking cookies)
- in third-party software, e.g. for analysis of web traffic and movements on our page

Most cookies do not contain personal data or information about you as an individual. However, stored form field information and cookies created by third-party software may contain such information.

Non-Identifying Information

When our website is accessed, data such as information about your movements, your entries in search forms, and statistics about your navigation is collected and recorded by us or by trusted third-party agents.

This data is non-identifying and is solely used for continually improvement of the online experience, for evaluation of success of marketing campaigns, and for reports on site usage.

Links to Third Party Websites

We may offer links to other websites on our websites, whose operators may also collect personal information including information generated through the use of cookies.

We are not responsible for how such third parties collect, use or disclose information. We suggest that you familiarize yourself with their privacy policies before providing any personal information.

Control Your Personal Information

You may contact us at any time in case you wish to access, verify or correct your personal information, or for the case that you would like to amend or withdraw your consent.

Our Chief Privacy Officer, or an appropriate delegate, will review your communication and, if necessary, respond to you directly.
